

Governor's Pet Bills Likely To Be Beaten

Smith Must Show More Fighting Spirit to Get Recommended Measures Through the Legislature

To Adjourn in 2 Weeks

Women and Labor Join to Save Welfare Legislation: Little Hope Is Seen

ALBANY, April 5.—The 1919 Legislature, which has been in session since January 1, bids fair to adjourn two weeks from to-day without passing more than three or four of the score of measures recommended by Governor Smith in his message to the lawmakers.

Knowing this, Governor Smith summoned the Democratic members of both houses to the Executive Chamber three days ago and a programme of offence was determined upon. The minority was told that beginning Monday they must move at stated intervals during the week to discharge the various committees in the Senate and the Rules Committee in the Assembly from consideration of the Governor's measures. Along the Democratic minority could accomplish nothing, but they are trying to effect a fusion with insurgent Republicans in both houses. The Governor directed each member of the minority to be in his seat daily until the session's end.

The Governor is anxious to put through his Public Service Commission legislation—as amended to suit the upstate Republicans. In its present form the measure merely reorganizes the New York City commission by creating one regulatory commissioner, four deputies and one transit commissioner. The latter would have charge of completing the remaining work on the dual subway system. In addition, the transit commissioner would have the letting of contracts on the proposed West Side freight subway, with its numerous warehouse units, estimated to cost between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000.

Measure Likely to Pass
Some sort of legislation of this sort is almost certain to pass, but that it will go through in its present form seems doubtful.

But it is unlikely that the bigger things recommended by the Governor will have a chance in the present Legislature. And it is a matter of comment here that Governor Smith so far has displayed none of his old fighting spirit to get action on legislation. But many here expect the Governor to get back into his former trim within the next few days. If he does there is a chance that most of his legislation will probably pass. He holds the whip hand with his veto power.

Well up in the Governor's list of recommendations was municipal ownership. While it is a known fact that the average Democrat regards the whole proposition as a joke, it is equally well known that Mayor Hylan has failed to accept invitations to appear before the Senate Public Service Commission to urge the passage of this legislation.

Fight on Welfare Bills
Six of the Governor's recommendations included the so-called welfare legislation sponsored by the Women's Joint Legislative Conference and the State Federation of Labor. The women and the labor leaders have been conducting a stiff fight to get the measures through. Only one is expected to pass—the measure extending the protective features of the labor law to women elevator runners.

One labor bill, which provides that victims of occupational diseases shall be included in the beneficiary provisions of the workers' compensation, will be passed.

One recommendation of the Governor being carried out by Republicans—in fact, it has been in the process of development for four or five years by preceding Republican legislatures—is that of adopting a state policy on the question of utilizing the state's water power resources.

Nothing has been done with any of the following recommendations:
1. Promised legislation aimed at remedying the milk situation.
2. Promised legislation to ameliorate conditions in prisons.
3. A systematic codification of election laws.
4. Putting teeth in the corrupt practices act by compelling the publication before election of all campaign contributions.

5. Bringing about a condition where cities shall have a larger portion of home rule.
6. Abolishing the office of port warden.

Bandits Rob Bank At Randolph, N. Y.

Five Thieves Make Getaway in Auto With $3,000; One Robber Caught

RANDOLPH, N. Y., April 5.—The State Bank of Randolph was robbed by five men soon after the doors were opened at 10 o'clock this morning.

The men drove up in front of the bank in an automobile. Three entered the building, two standing on the sidewalk between the bank door and the automobile holding off all citizens who chanced to come that way.

Two of the trio in the bank herded the clerks into a corner, while the third entered the cashier's cage and took all the money in sight.

As the three thieves were leaving the building J. A. Crowley, cashier, opened fire with a revolver through a glass partition. All five thieves entered their machine and sped away, exchanging shots with Crowley.

The highwayman's automobile broke down near Kennedy, a short distance from here. One of the men was captured.

In addition to about $3,000 in cash, it is reported that the thieves secured Liberty bonds worth several thousand dollars.

Three New Expressions of the Mode in Suits

Long, slender lines remain in highest favor, yet these may be retained and still diversify the treatment of the silhouette in unusual, interesting ways, as, for example, these suits—

(A) Poiret Twill is the material of a suit notable for smartness. It comes either in tan with vest and embroidery of self color, or in walnut with the vest, which is striped tri-coloire, of a lovely shade of blue. The embroidery is done in silk floss in a novel, fascinating design. Sizes for women and misses—

Where FASHION and SPRINGTIME Meet

Easter has long been established by tradition as the time for Fashion to appear in her most radiant Spring attire. This year, victory casts its glamour over all things, and dress especially flowers forth resplendent in color and expression.

Many nations and times have furnished the types and inspiration for makers of Fashion who have subtly blended the ancient, rare, with what is desirable and practical in dress to produce modes of marvellous individuality and charm. To this combination of what is beautiful with what is practical Hearn adds a third value, that of economy, and shows fashions that exhibit new tendencies and interpretations of the mode at prices that are genuinely moderate.

Her EASTER HAT

GAINSBOROUGH would have loved to paint this hat. You will love to wear it. Its picturesquely flattering curves and luxuriant plumes bespeak a world of charm. It is but one of the miracles of fashion and flowers, and fashion, feathers and fascination evoked by the magical skill of creators of millinery for Easter. These lovely hats await your choice in our millinery salons, where your taste will delight in numberless styles, youthful, sedate, demure, dashing or gay. All the quaint stylings of an older time, from the days of Watteau to the heyday of Napoleon's glory. Every woman who sees them will appreciate the opportunity they offer to symbolize and express her personality in that crowning glory of Easter costume—her hat. Illustrated.
